Located only minutes west of St. Louis County, the City of O'Fallon stretches between Interstate 70 and Highway 40-61 (I-64), covering almost 30 square miles.

Established in 1856, O'Fallon is the seventh largest city in Missouri, with a growing population of approximately 74,000 residents. While rich in history, the City today offers the latest in housing, business, retail and leisure.

St. Charles County government and local municipalities such as O'Fallon have created a hospitable business environment in St. Charles County, which is helping to promote industrial growth.
